Description: The Ballantyne of Omaha, Inc is a leading supplier of motion picture theater equipment, like film projectors and sound systems, used by the major theater chains (AMC, Regal Entertainment). It also manufactures specialized equipment for IMAX theaters and Iwerks motion simulators. Ballantyne's lighting division manufactures spotlights and searchlights used in motion picture and television production, as well as in many amusement parks and sporting arenas (Walt Disney World, Chicago's United Center). The company also makes food service equipment for use in convenience stores and fast food eateries. The McCarthy Group, an Omaha-based merchant-banking firm, owns 31% of the company.
